

DEPAUW WILL HAVE SUMMER SCHOOL WORK

BOARD OF TRUSTEES PUT UNIVERSITY ON WARTIME BASIS

ASK ACTION ON AIRPORT

Summer School Classes To Be Conducted Here For First Time In Eleven Years

DePauw University, through action of the Board of Trustees, went on a war-time basis, as a result of the mid-winter meeting of the trustees at Indianapolis on Saturday. The trustees went on record for a summer school session, the first in 11 years, which will accommodate 300 students; asking the city of Greencastle and the federal government to recondition the airport so that the university can re-instate the CAA for the duration; retirement of two veteran teachers, Miss Dade Shearer, head of the Latin department and teacher in the department since 1907, and Dr. Benjamin Grave, professor of zoology since 1928.

The trustees adopted the principle of an accelerated program which would permit an entering freshman to graduate in three years, but the accelerated program will not be compulsory.

A summer session was approved for this year. It will last 10 weeks and a student can earn 12 semester hours' credit. DePauw has had no summer term since 1931.

Dr. E. R. Bartlett will have charge of the summer school.

Under the plan adopted, high school students graduating in January may enter in February of this year and those graduating next spring may enter as freshmen at the beginning of the summer session. Dean G. Herbert Smith, director of admissions, predicted that the summer enrollment this year will be about 300. He also estimated that the school will have a student loss of about 200 next year. Enrollment this semester is 1,475.

One of the 11 points adopted for the university war program provided that a limited number of selected high school juniors may enter the freshman class after the completion of their junior year.

The board approved courses in electronics, college algebra, trigonometry and navigation, bacteriology, physical fitness, shorthand and typewriting, Latin-American civilization, geography of South America, post-war economic reconstruction and first aid. They also approved the idea that a constant study be made of the curriculum as it relates to a developing national situation.

Realizing the financial difficulties which will face privately endowed institutions, the board voted unanimous support and endorsement of the alumni fund movement as a sustaining financial factor in the life of the university.

The board of trustees also requested the city of Greencastle and the United States government to provide an airport at Greencastle to enable the university to reinstate the CAA program which proved successful last year.

A campus organization to relate the university to the national emergency also was approved. The organization will include a committee on civilian defense to co-operate with the Greencastle committee, a speakers' bureau to aid in creation of civilian morale, an organization of students and faculty to support the Red Cross and other humanitarian agencies, a student war emergency council and a national emergency council composed of students, faculty and administration to act as a clearing house on all matters relating to the national emergency.

The board approved pay roll deductions of staff members for purchase of defense bonds and the sale of stamps and bonds to members of the staff by the cashier of the university.

The board urged that DePauw remain a college of liberal arts but that it relate itself "definitely to the concrete situation which we face."

The board also approved a proposal that the campus organize a seminar to study the causes of war and thus help the nation to win the peace as well as the war.

At the outset of the adopted program the board stated that "we pledge to the President of the United States the total resources and strength of our college, our faculty, our students, our administrative organization, our buildings and equipment and offer our support of his efforts for victory both in the war and

Kenneth W. Pettit

Kenneth W. Pettit, who enlisted in the navy five years ago, is aboard the U. S. Brazos, which is rumored to be damaged by a torpedo. Mr. and Mrs. George Pettit, parents, of Greencastle, state there has been no confirmation of the rumor, and that they have received no word from the Navy Department.

W. F. Gahm Will Speak Thursday

PRODUCTION CREDIT PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS ANNUAL MEETING HERE

Members of the board of directors of the Greencastle Production Credit Association have arranged a day-long program packed with timely features for the association's annual meeting at the High School Auditorium in Greencastle, January 29, 1942, starting at 10:00 a. m.

One of the meeting highlights will be a talk on Production Credit by W. F. Gahm, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville, parent organization of the Greencastle Production Credit Association.

J. W. Earnshaw, secretary-treasurer of the Greencastle cooperative credit group, reports that present attendance prospects indicate a "full house" for this year's annual get-together. "The present situation," he says, "has made all of our farmers realize that the wise use of sound short-term credit paves the way for them to shoulder their share of the country's war effort."

Dr. Malan Favors Salary Increases

STATE PUBLIC INSTRUCTION HEAD FORMER RUSSELLVILLE PRINCIPAL

Dr. C. T. Malan, former principal of the Russellville school in Putnam county, now state superintendent of public instruction, is quoted as bespeaking an increase in salaries of public school teachers. He said, according to the statement:

"Adjustment of teachers' salaries and working conditions is an immediate necessity if the doors of the schools are to remain open. Teachers are being called out of the classrooms for war and defense activity, and in many other cases are being forced into better-paying positions because of the rapidly rising prices. Salaries of rural teachers in this state have reached only $1,030. This is well-nigh disgraceful when we consider that many of these teachers have families of from four to seven persons to support on such a salary."

PUTNAM COUNTY SAILOR WAS AT PEARL HARBOR

Miss Dora Cox, has received an interesting letter from her uncle, James Cox, former resident of Clinton Falls who is now in the United States Navy.

Mr. Cox, according to the letter, was aboard the American destroyer Cummings at Pearl Harbor when the Japs attacked Dec. 7th. "The ship was damaged, the letter said, but since war was declared, he wrote that he had only been in port eight days, evidently being on duty on the high seas. The letter said he was en route to San Francisco.

Mr. Cox joined the Navy in September 1940. His letter to his niece was not censored, she said.

John Abel, trustee of Greencastle township, is confined to his home by illness.

Marine Corps Will Take DPU Students

LIMITED NUMBER OF SELECTED DEPAUW MEN CAN TAKE OFFICER'S COURSE

A limited number of selected DePauw University students will be appointed to the United States Marine Corps candidates' class, a preliminary officers' training course, under a new plan of reserve officer procurement, according to an announcement by Captain Ralph E. Bolton, officer in charge of Marine Corps recruiting in the Indiana area. Those students who successfully complete this course will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve for service during the duration of the war.

DePauw is one of eight colleges and universities in Indiana from whose undergraduates a small number of men are being selected for appointment to the candidates' class. The other schools are Indiana University, Notre Dame University, Butler University, Purdue University, Wabash College, St. Joseph's College and Manchester College.

Because of the recent expansion of the Marine Corps and the consequent need for junior officers, it is intended to enlist qualified members of the current senior, junior and sophomore classes of these Indiana schools and assign them to candidates' classes beginning next May. Only seniors will be assigned to the first of these officers' training courses which start in May and June. All other seniors who are accepted and all juniors and sophomores accepted will be enlisted with the understanding that they will not be called into active service, if practicable, until after graduation from college, but that if it should become necessary to call them to active duty prior to graduation at least six months' notice will be given them.

Successful completion of the candidates' class course, which is approximately six months long, will qualify the candidates for commissions as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve after which

Fog Blanketed City On Monday

MOTORISTS HAD TO TURN ON LIGHTS AS PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE

The sun was scheduled to rise at 7:15 o'clock this morning, but overcast, or was ailing or lazy, or something, apparently, because it did not appear. Or, on the other hand, it may have risen but the dense coating of fog over the face of the earth, hereabouts, this morning, may have given it a black-out.

The air was saturated with moisture and the temperature was 32, at 7 this morning, making conditions just right for the formation of a nice, thick fog. Automobile drivers turned on their light switches, fearing collisions because of the foreshortened view and the fog was a nuisance in every way it could be.

The temperature of the last week or more has been unseasonably high, reaching 56 Saturday at 1 o'clock, and remaining there a couple of hours.

The lowest of recent days was the 34 reading Saturday morning, with the exception of the 32 this morning.

20 YEARS AGO

IN GREENCASTLE

Mrs. Ernest Stoner returned from a visit with relatives at Rushville.

Tony Cancelli, who had been taking treatment at the Mayo hospital at Rochester, Minn., went from there to Winnipeg, in Canada, to visit relatives.

The Greencastle city and township school consolidation law, written for the school board by C. C. Gillen and enacted into a law by the legislature, was declared constitutional by the state Supreme court, on an appeal from Richmond, where the law was unfavorably received by a township trustee.

Modern Transportation, Horse and Buggy

Walter Torr, south Madison township farmer, isn't worrying about the shortage of automobile tires, nor of automobiles, but he might worry within a few years, about being able to have his buggy wheels retired, because they carry rubber tires and although they are new now, they won't last longer than a few years and perhaps a few thousand miles.

Mr. Torr never drove an automobile and doesn't expect to drive one now. However, he isn't handicapped by the lack of transportation, because he hitchhikes up his faithful horse, which is a real one, every morning and drives over his farm at his own pleasure. Neither does he worry about a mud hole or getting stuck in a soft spot, and if he doesn't want to ride in his buggy, which is a fancy Moyer side-spring type, he just puts on his western saddle, jumps astride his faithful nag and away across country he goes. It isn't back to the "horse and buggy days" for Mr. Torr, because he is just using what he has always used and is enjoying it, and a lot of his friends are beginning to envy his safe mode of getting from one place to another.

It was Mr. Duff's first ride on the new kind of train and it was the first trip he had made to Indianapolis on a railroad in the past 34 years. COURT MARTIAL CALLS FOLLOW BOARD'S REPORT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(UP)—The Pearl Harbor board's report of preparedness misplays in Hawaii today provoked congressional demands for unification of land, sea and air command in war theaters. The least Congress is likely to settle for will be definite assurances of better army-navy coordination.

There already are congressional calls for court martial of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter S. Short, commanding officers in Hawaii, whose forces were alerted only to meet saboteurs from within on Dec. 7 when Japanese airmen raided them from distant aircraft carrier bases.

There was no tendency in any quarter to "alibi" for the grave "errors of judgment" and "dereliction of duty" upon the part of Kimmel and Short which the board said were directly responsible for the success of the Japanese attack.

But there were statements in Congress and in the public press charging negligence as well in Washington. These were based principally on the board's assertion that too much emphasis was placed in all quarters upon the probability of a Japanese attack in the south seas instead of at Hawaii.

U. S. DEFENDERS INFLECT HUGE TOLL ON JAPS

HARDEST BLOW OF WAR ON JAPANESE REPORTED BY GEN. MACARTHUR

AMERICAN FLEET ACTIVE

U. S. Warships In Asiatic Waters Sink Seven Loaded Transports Says Communique

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heroic men of Bataan and American air and sea forces in the southwest Pacific today smashed the hardest blows of the war at Japan.

The American armed forces amassed a heavy toll of Japanese dead in a series of air, land and sea attacks.

MacArthur's forces accounted for "hundreds of dead and large quantities of supplies and equipment" in what was officially described as a "brilliant maneuver" which "completely disorganized" his enemy for the moment.

The U. S. Asiatic fleet blasted at a major Japanese transport fleet in the Macassar Straits and sank seven and possibly eight Japanese ships. The death toll in these sinkings was not officially estimated but might easily exceed 10,000.

Despite these blows it was evident that the Japanese offensive is rolling ahead. MacArthur's men braced themselves for another furious Japanese attack.

Australia for the third time in three days appealed urgently for U. S. aid.

But Allied reinforcements—including American forces—plainly had reached the southwest Pacific and went into forceful action.

Fast cruisers and destroyers of the U. S. Asiatic fleet in their running battle against a major Japanese landing and transport operation south of Celebes sea brought the total Japanese ships known sunk since the start of the war to 48.

It was the first time since the war started that the American Navy had driven home a death blow against a major Japanese surface force.

The feat of the U. S. Asiatic fleet was but one phase of an operation by forces of the united nations under general southwest Pacific command of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell.

Dutch planes and American flying fortresses joined in smashing at the Japanese invasion fleet and were credited by Wavell with sinking or damaging 19 Japanese craft in the past three days. It was not clear whether the seven or eight ships sunk by the U. S. Asiatic fleet were included in this total which Wavell called "the heaviest blow since the start of the war" against Japan.

The bulk of the action was in the vital Straits of Macassar between Borneo and Celebes where the Japanese are striking south to bring their invasion spearhead within 500 miles or so of the principal island of the Dutch Indies, Java.

In the action American flying fortresses again proved their fighting qualities when they engaged in a pitched battle with 12 Japanese fighter planes and shot down five without loss to themselves. Ordinarily a bombing plane is an easy target for a fighter.

The team was driven by Arvil Nichols. Another automobile which had been immediately behind the wagon, swung out to pass it from the rear, and Cherry, who was following the first machine, did not see the wagon in time to check his speed. In the collision, the horses were unhurt but Nichols' leg was cut and bruised. State Police Officer Eugene Crawley of the Putnamville barracks and Deputy Sheriff Clovis Madden were called to investigate the accident. Arrangements were made to pay for the damages sustained by the wagon.

Miss Esther Dunlavy Bride of Donald Quick

In a beautiful and impressive single ring ceremony on Friday, Jan. 23, at 4 p. m. Miss Esther Dunlavy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Dunlavy, of Fillmore, became the bride of Donald Elrod Quick, son of Jacob Quick, of Coatesville.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Ella Ader sang "At Dawning," and "I Love You, Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Morgan of Boswell, sister of the bride.

The bridal couple entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. Morgan. The single ring ceremony was read by Dr. Edwin W. Dunlavy a cousin of the bride, of New Carlisle. Little Nancy Jo Morgan, niece of the bride, carried the ring on a pillow, fashioned from the Liberty Silk sash worn by the bride's mother at her own wedding.

The bride wore a dusty rose street length dress, with sweet heart neck line, shirred bodice, with full pleated skirt, with shoulder corsage.

Little Miss Morgan wore a shirred powder blue dress, with full skirt.

Mrs. Quick is a talented musician, a graduate of DePauw Music School, a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, an honorary musical sorority of DePauw, of Iota Psi Alpha sorority, and has taught music and art both at Fillmore and Cambridge City.

Mr. Quick has completed three years in engineering at Washington University of St. Louis, Mo. For the past few years he has been employed with his father on the farm.

Mrs. Quick will continue in her present position in Cambridge City, while Mr. Quick is employed in Indianapolis.

Only the immediate families and a few friends were present. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Quick of Danville R. R., Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dunlavy of New Carlisle, Miss Lora Dunlavy of Lafayette, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kiger and son, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morgan, Nancy Jo and Dwight of Boswell, Mrs. Wilbur Roberts and daughter Barbara, Mrs. Ella Ader, of Fillmore and John Dunlavy of Greencastle.

RED CROSS DAY DINNER

It may seem like magic—to work all day at Red Cross—arriving home less than an hour before the usual dinner hour—and in that time prepare a regular all around meal. Instead of the sketchy kind that makes father or children remark dismally after one glance at the dinner table—"Oh, yes. This was mother's day at the Red Cross."

It would be much pleasanter to hear them exclaim admiringly—"You'd never think from this meal that Mother'd been gone all day!"

Prepared In The Morning Or The Day Before
Yes, mother can do it, providing she plans a meal where a good part of the food can be prepared the day before or early in the morning of Red Cross day. An oven dinner is one answer. Meat and potatoes can be in their baking dishes all ready for the oven. And one of the children can be entrusted with the responsibility of lighting the oven at the right time for the meat to begin baking. Or a kindly next-door neighbor may be willing to run in for a minute and turn on the oven. Here is a dinner menu that can be managed in this fashion:

Meat Loaf
Potatoes au Gratin
Tomato Sauce
Buttered Green Beans
Pineapple and Orange Salad
Dark Bread
White Bread
Gingerbread with Whipped Cream or Chocolate Sauce
Coffee

The gingerbread, of course, will have been made the day before. The tomato sauce can be in a double boiler all ready to heat. And the meat loaf and potatoes all ready to slide into the oven at the proper time.

To Make This Meal A Quickie
If there is no possible way to have these dishes placed in the oven at the right time—then prepare the au gratin potatoes in a wide shallow dish—so that they will heat through in about 20 or 25 minutes. Serve the meat loaf cold. Or heat it by cutting it into slices and steaming them, if possible, or placing on a pan set in a larger pan of hot water in the oven.

MEAT LOAF
2 cups bread crumbs
2 tsp. flour
2 1/2 tsp. salt
4 tsp. onion, (chopped fine)
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. mustard

1 1/2 tsp. sage
1 lb. beef, ground
1/2 lb. veal, ground
1/2 lb. pork, ground
1 egg
1 1/2 cups milk

Mix bread crumbs, flour, salt, pepper, onion, paprika, mustard and sage together and work into the meat. Add the beaten egg to the milk and knead into the meat mixture gradually. Pack into a bread loaf pan 4 x 8 inches across bottom and 2 1/2 inches deep, well greased with meat drippings. Bake 1 to 1 1/2 hours in a moderate oven, 350° F.

POTATOES AU GRATIN
Make 2 cups of medium white sauce as for Creamed Potatoes, adding 1 tsp. mustard and 1/2 cup strong American cheese, grated. Combine with 3 cups cooled boiled potatoes cut in small cubes. Place in a shallow baking dish and sprinkle paprika and an additional 1/4 cup cheese over the top. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F.

Roachdale Wins Tourney; Clash With Clay City

HAWKS DEFEAT BEES SATURDAY NIGHT; PLAY AT TERRE HAUTE FRIDAY

Roachdale's Hawks crashed through Saturday night in the local high school gym to win the Wabash Valley basketball tourney, 34 to 23, from the Russellville Bees. As result of this victory, the Roachdale team will meet Clay City at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the final round of competition at Terre Haute.

Saturday evening's encounter was close and hard fought during the first three periods. The count was even at the quarter, 5-5, and all tied up again at the half, 9 to 9. The Hawks forged into the lead in the third frame, 19 to 14. Russellville fought desperately, but with the score standing at 21-17, Roachdale spurred and the final gun found the Hawks out in front, 34 to 23. It marked the second straight year that Roachdale has won the tournament here. A year ago they went to Terre Haute and lost to Decker, runnerup in the finals.

The semi-finals Saturday afternoon saw Russellville defeat Bainbridge, 35 to 31, while Roachdale downed Belle Union, 42 to 17.

HITLER HURLS TWO CRACK DIVISIONS AGAINST REDS

LONDON, Jan. 26—(UP)—Two of Germany's best divisions rushed into the southwest Moscow front from another sector in a vain attempt to stop the relentless Russian counter-offensive, have been thrown back with heavy losses, a special radio Moscow bulletin said today.

Adolf Hitler was reported to have personally ordered the divisions, the 6th and 67th, into the lines from his new and presumably safe "inner call" headquarters at Minsk or in East Prussia, it was asserted.

They counter-attacked the Russians ferociously, Moscow reported, only to be smashed.

The Moscow bulletin said the Russians had regained nine important inhabited places in the last 24 hours on the southwest-Moscow front, and the regular Russian war communiqué reported that 16 towns and villages had been captured on the entire front.

Russian troops were reported advancing all along the line, breaking such German resistance as there was by storming or smashing with heavy

That's the theme of the above poster, one of the newest of the Defense Savings promotional pieces now going up in streetcars, on bulletin boards, and at other public places. This poster emphasizes the point advanced by the Treasury Department that every American can—and must—pitch in if the United States is to have the arms and the tools necessary to protect her freedom.

artillery each German strong point in turn.

The regular communiqué reported that the Russians in their latest operations killed 1,400 Germans and captured a field gun, five anti-tank guns, 40 machine guns, 13 trench mortars, 267 trucks, 80 carts filled with war materials and six planes.

HOOSIER POULTRY NEWS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 24—

The many Hoosier poultrymen who are planning on remodeling their laying houses or making home-made laying house equipment will be interested, says L. A. Wilhelm, Purdue University extension poultryman, in the 1942 Indiana Poultry Blue Book, which is now available.

The new Poultry Blue Book contains the recently revised poultry house plans, prepared by C. H. Reed, Purdue extension specialist in farm structures, and these plans are expected to prove particularly valuable to Indiana poultrymen.

Four pages of the Blue Book, annual publication of the State Poultry Association of Indiana, are devoted to workable drawings showing in detail practical ideas necessary for good construction of the Purdue 20x20 laying unit as well as simple illustrations on ventilation, dropping boards, pits, and other "musts" for a good laying house.

The remodeling of existing poultry houses or other poultry structures is emphasized in the booklet. Some advantages of remodeling listed are:

- (1) Profitable use may be made of a building which is now a "white elephant."
- (2) Temporary increase may be made in poultry business without investing in a new poultry house.
- (3) The difference between the cost of remodeling and the cost of a new house may be invested in the poultry flock, thus making possible larger returns on the capital invested.

Wilhelm points out that Indiana
